GOT STUCK IN CHIMNEY

DOING SANTA CLAUS STUNT

An episode in "Days of Real Sport" made famous by Briggs was enacted on Monday by several boys in the vicinity of the sandbank on McKinley avenue near the armory. Contractors have been digging and screening the sand from the bank and in the course of their work had used a large flat-top furnace to dry the sand so that it could be screened more easily. The boys were using this furnace as a playhouse and the chimney for Santa Claus' stunt. The boys would climb the chimney and go down it into the furnace as they understood Santa Claus does when he makes his Christmas visit.

CLAIM MRS. RUCKHOLDT

IS MENTALLY INCAPABLE

A plea that Mrs. Ruth Champion Ruckholdt, formerly employed in a department store in this city is "mentally incapable" to be made in her behalf when she is presented in a New York court this week on the charge of larceny of $1,000 from Dr. R. A. Shapley of Derby. She is the woman who came into prominence recently by her attempt to swindle a New London jewelry firm out of a watch and jewelry by representing that she was the wife of a well-known customer in New London.

Attorney G. Curtis Morgan and Attorney Daniel M. Cronin will, in case the case comes to trial this week, represent Mrs. Ruckholdt in behalf of the state. Morgan is in New York and Cronin is in New London.

Attorney Morgan said that he was in New York last week and conferred with Mrs. Ruckholdt and with her attorney, Charles R. Murphy. He went there in response to her pitiful appeal which she made him by letter last week.

Attorney Morgan claims that some eight months ago Mrs. Ruckholdt was in New London and that she had some matters concerning which she consulted both Attorney Morgan and Attorney Cronin. Attorney Morgan says that both he and Mr. Cronin are of the opinion that she is not normal mentally and that she is incapable of doing for herself.

As to her reason for getting into her present difficulty, Attorney Morgan says that she was fraudulently endeavoring to raise the sum of $5,000 which she intended to give to two men who had led her to believe that she was heir to an estate in England of $500,000.

These two men, who evidently attempted to swindle her, are said to be the names of William Ballard and Joseph Stawell. It is said that Mrs. Ruckholdt thought that they could get this money due her from the estate, but would require some expense money and she asked her to give them $5,000. She agreed to get this money for them and in her effort to do so she was deceived.

As to the two men who had led her to believe that she was heir to an estate in England of $500,000, Attorney Morgan says that they are now in New York and that she has not seen them since she was arrested.

College President Before Brotherhood

Benjamin T. Marshall, president of Connecticut College, at New London, delivered an intensely interesting address on "The Spirit of America," at the regular monthly meeting of the Brotherhood of the United Congregational church at the Community House on Church street, Monday evening.

The evening opened at 8:30 with a supper served under the direction of the members of B. P. Bishop's class. Covers were laid for over 75 and the excellent menu included baked fresh ham, mashed potatoes, rolls, coffee, apple sauce and sponge cake with whipped cream.

A brief business session followed the supper. President Nathan A. Gibbs presiding. Rev. Joseph H. Seiden, D. D., spoke briefly on the plans for the lecture course which the Brotherhood is planning to give.

Dr. Marshall was introduced as the speaker of the evening by President Gibbs. Dr. Marshall's topic was "The Spirit of America," and his address proved one of the most interesting yet delivered before the Brotherhood.

In the heart of America there is a spirit of Adventurism, said Dr. Marshall. I have been often to Plymouth. This is a land of the future. The Massachusetts Bay is familiar to me as my own backyard. I have been often to Plymouth and I have never failed to be impressed by the courage, manhood and wisdom of those people, the Pilgrims.

I try to visualize what might have been the aspect of that land as they came to it. What a fierce proposition it was. Everything people were untrained and untrained. Somebody ought to write the story of the women of those early colonies just as somebody ought to write the story of the women of the present colonies.

Dr. Marshall closed his address with a glowing tribute to that great American, Abraham Lincoln. A rising vote of thanks was given the speaker.

CATHOLIC WOMEN ORGANIZE

FOR COUNTY SOCIAL SERVICE

The formation of a New London county council of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women was accomplished at a meeting held at the residence of Mrs. George W. Hart, diocesan director of Catholic charities in the state, was the principal speaker. Mrs. Frank L. McGuire of New London was chairman of the meeting and Mrs. D. Mahoney of this city vice chairman.

The different lines of work contemplated by the new association are: Coordination of all state Catholic charities, promotion of systematic social service, the opening and maintaining of local service bureaus, child welfare work, women's activities, Catholic welfare council work, legal aid, and study clubs.

The initial interest in the movement was created by Father Judge, who addressed the meeting at the residence of Mrs. St. Mary's Sunday and stated in the course of his remarks that "Catholics have been too eagerly watching the front door and too readily overlooking the rear door" of Catholicism.

"When a religious community or a person of prominence becomes converted to the Catholic church the interest is widespread among our people. But we fail to note those who are falling out of the rear door. These need our attention. Many of our Catholic friends, without wishing to proselytize, try to win our members to their church on the theory that one church is as good as another."

"Now what we need," further declared the speaker, "is centers of our own in which to take care of our own cases. We need trained social workers and we need women who are willing to take up this social service as their life work. The object of each one of us should be to make the world a better place, and to this purpose we urge the formation of this new association."
